

MqttDeviceExt

Summary

This is the device extension responsible for managing device communication using the realtime connector.

This component is a DeviceExt, this page will only contain information specific to this component.