

MqttPointExt

Summary

This is the extension responsible for sending points events and react to external messages.

This component is a PointExt, this page will only contain information specific to this component.